

SEES HER MOTHER DASHED TO DEATH AGAINST TREE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.--In a runaway accident at Eleventh and Main streets at noon today, Mrs. Harriet Ostrom was thrown from a buggy against a tree and killed and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rhoda Ostrom, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured. They were driving a single horse to a buggy when Mrs. Kate Johnson, a daughter of Mrs. Harriet Ostrom, witnessed the accident and was carried away in a hysterical state. It is feared she may have lost her reason as a result of witnessing the tragic death of her mother.

MRS. ANNIE H. MINER

Wife Walked Street In His Clothes, Testifies Dr. Miner

(Special to The Tribune.)

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 11.--The divorce suit of Dr. Henry Nelson Miner, formerly of Berkeley but now of Ben Lomond, against his wife, Annie H. Miner, was resumed this morning before Superior Judge Smith.

Dr. Miner was recalled to the witness stand and put under a severe series of questions by Mrs. Miner's counsel with reference to her action in appearing in men's attire. Dr. Miner was asked if he had ever seen his wife in men's attire.

"I have," replied the witness. "Whose clothes were they?"

"They were mine," replied the physician.

WENT OUT WITH HER.

Under further questioning, Dr. Miner made the astonishing statement that he accompanied his wife out into the streets of Berkeley at night while she was attired in men's garments. He said he didn't object to that as much then, but he did object to her kicking at chandeliers.

"If you didn't object to her appearing in men's garments, then why do you object now?" asked the counsel.

"I didn't object then," said Dr. Miner, "because I did not want to invite dissension. At the same time I did not consider it a very ladylike thing for a wife to do."

DIDN'T THINK HER CUTE.

The counsel for Mrs. Miner subjected the witness to a severe cross-examination with the effort to show that his objection to his wife's appearance in men's garb was an afterthought.

"You thought it was real smart

YOUNG DENOUNCED BY DESERTED WIFE SHE DIVORCED RECTOR FOR CRUELTY AND ABANDONMENT

CHARGE'S YOUNG TRIED TO MAKE HER TAKE AN OVERDOSE OF MEDICINE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 11.--The former wife of the Rev. Payson Young, who obtained a divorce from him last May, states that she was deserted by the clergyman in Los Angeles while she was very ill. She makes the charge that the Rev. Young, before leaving her, tried to induce her to take an overdose of medicine when the physician attending had specially warned her against using too large a quantity of the drug.

HATFIELD ASKS BRYAN FACES A COURT TO PREACH GOSPEL

SAN JOSE, Nov. 11.--In order to accommodate witnesses and spectators, Justice of the Peace Brown this morning held court in Department Two of the Superior Court in the hearing of William Hatfield, charged under the name of James C. Dunham with the murder of Colonel McGillicuddy and five others on the night of May 26, 1898.

Hatfield, who was escorted by Deputy Sheriff Buffington, betrayed no emotion and was apparently perfectly self-possessed as he took his seat beside R. C. Parker, a Port Worth, Texas, attorney, who, being here on business, had volunteered to act as his attorney in the hearing.

DECLARES INNOCENCE. Asked by a reporter how he felt, Hatfield replied: "I am all right. I realize that I am charged with a very serious crime, but, being conscious of my innocence, I am confident of the result."

The examination was conducted by District Attorney Free in person, and at his request the court permitted him to depart from the usual custom in preliminary examinations and to go direct in the beginning to the question of identity.

THE TESTIMONY. W. A. Parkhurst, Dr. Cooper of Campbell, Attorney W. H. Johnson, County Recorder J. J. Flannery, Charles Gutvey, Postmaster Eugene Don of Santa Clara, George Theuer-

BURKINGTON, Kans., Nov. 11.--Rev. Francis H. Oliver, who is holding a revival meeting here, has issued an open letter to W. J. Bryan, urging the Nebraskaan to become an evangelist, and predicting that he would become an equal of the Apostle Paul.

"Twelve years ago," writes Rev. Oliver, "I wrote you a letter in which I stated my conviction that you should preach the gospel, and added the statement that if you would consecrate your wonderful talents to God as an evangelist, the Bryan of the Twentieth Century would equal the Paul of the First Century, as a champion of the cause of Christ."

"Personally your three defeats have been sources of sorrow to me, as I have hoped to see you elected to the Presidency. Who knows? Perhaps God had withheld the Presidency from you in order that you may become more to your country than Presidency. I am firmly convinced that one Ambassador of Christ of your caliber is worth more to the nation than ten thousand presidents."

Kauf, E. D. Gilman, Fred Erickson, W. A. Monroee, D. W. Campbell, A. Fazio, George Whitney, Robert Hamilton, Mrs. E. Hill, J. B. Everett, J. J. Toomey and Dr. J. W. Davey all testified as to their former acquaintance with Dunham, their inspection of Hatfield in the county jail, and their conviction that the two men were not the same. It is doubtful if the hearing will be concluded this afternoon.

"Jimmy" Hopper Starts $250,000 Libel Suit

RENO, Nev., Nov. 11.--"Diamond Jack" Davis of Goldfield has entered suit in the United States Court at Carson City against the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia for $250,000 for what he terms malicious libel. He complains that in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post he is represented as the villain in a murder story, the scene of which is laid in Goldfield. The name of the villain is "Diamond Jack," and Davis says he is sure he is the person meant. The circumstances of the story are pointed out so minutely, he says, that the malice is very evident. James Hopper, author of the story, resided in Goldfield for a time.

"Jimmy" Hopper is the well-known Californian author. He was a famous football star at the State University and a San Francisco newspaper man.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 11.--Rev. Payson Young, central figure in the disappearance mystery of Miss Edna Clark, an Alameda art student, was divorced by his wife in Portland six years ago.

It was in May, 1907, that Mrs. Payson Young called at the office of a Portland attorney and wanted a divorce. That was four months after she had married the clergyman. The woman was informed that under the laws of Oregon she could not secure a divorce until she had been a resident of the State for a year.

TRIED AGAIN A YEAR LATER

Mrs. Young walked out of the office and exactly one year later, May 8, 1908, she again visited the lawyers, told her story and received her decree, Mr. Young making no protest.

According to Mrs. Young she met the minister in a small town near Cheyenne, Wyo. She was a widow. He proposed marriage and was accepted.

They went to Denver for their honeymoon, he establishing her in one hotel while he went to another. The next day the marriage was performed and they were to depart for Los Angeles. He is alleged to have represented that he had a congregation in a town near the City of the Angels.

SAID HIS MONEY WAS GONE

The day following Young told her his money was all gone and proposed that they remain in Denver until he could draw on his account in California. Mrs. Young had money and with it they proceeded to Los Angeles. Young did not introduce his wife to any friends, giving evasive excuses for his negligence. The same thing occurred in Los Angeles, where they remained several weeks, Young saying he had been given a vacation by his congregation.

DESERTED HER WHEN ILL

Mrs. Young told her lawyers a story of illness and of her latter desertion by her husband going to Oakland, where she followed him. He instructed her to come to Portland.

It is alleged that he deserted her after she had given him $300 and refused longer to support him. In discussing her disastrous matrimonial venture, Mrs. Young said that she found letters addressed to her husband under various names, and when she spoke to him about it he replied that he had had his name changed legally, although the woman believes that Payson is not his correct name. The preacher received many letters from Canada, Illinois, Indiana, Florida and the Atlantic seaboard states.

Mrs. Young was restored to her maiden name of Selma M. Johnson.

She was found dead at 1 o'clock this afternoon and had evidently taken a kind of poison. She left no message of any kind and a detective has been detailed to make an investigation.

Improvement of Webster Street.

The work of bringing Webster street north of the drawbridge up to grade and remacadamizing it, which is now in progress, will soon put the main highway of inter-communication between Oakland and Alameda in good condition. For a great many years Oakland had a just cause of complaint against Alameda for neglecting to improve the roadway across the marsh, which was in the winter season well-nigh impassable to road vehicles and pedestrians at times. Inter-communication between the two cities suffered. Alameda's indifference in those years to the marsh highway engendered a similar disposition in the government of this city, and Webster street was in consequence wrecked. But when Alameda took hold of public improvements in earnest, it made a model roadway across the broad marsh from the drawbridge to the upland and transferred the onus of maintaining a poor interurban highway to this city. The Board of Works is at present relieving the municipality of that stigma, and in the course of a few weeks Webster street will be in as good shape as any macadamized street in Oakland.

The great value of this artery of inter-communication between the two cities is demonstrated in the enormous traffic which is being carried by it, as it constitutes the short haul between them. The traffic on the Oakland side is naturally heavier than it is at the Alameda end, because of the large group of important industries and warehouses which have been located on the south side of the estuary adjacent to the Webster-street bridge. This traffic is steadily increasing. It will continue to increase correspondingly with the growth in population, commerce and inter-grade of the two cities. In the construction of its share of the interurban roadway Alameda made a permanent improvement, as the smoothly surfaced roadbed across the marsh is practically indestructible and capable of carrying any kind of road traffic. The improvement of the thoroughfare on this side of the drawbridge is, however, only a temporary makeshift. As such, it will serve for a time; but it is quite evident that it will have to be surfaced in a very short while with some superior pavement than simple macadam to enable it to carry the heavy traffic passing over it and which is growing in volume daily.

Foreign Criticism on American School Habits.

The Elementary School Teacher for November, issued by the University of Chicago Press, contains an article by Professor Fritz Koch of the Lake Geneva, Switzerland, new school, on the subject of "Conservatism in Childhood," in which he makes some remarkable criticisms on American parents and American teachers and the habits of life which they take special pains to inculcate in the children under their care. These criticisms are the results of his observations of American school life made during a recent visit to this country.

Professor Koch makes one of the most astonishing attacks, for example, on the efforts that are made in our public schools to cultivate the habits of neatness of attire and cleanliness among the pupils. The former he condemns as a detriment to the natural mental and educational development of the child, on the ground that "fashion is a forced culture of vanity and extravagance." And because "cleanliness is a virtue not demanded from the factory hand while at work," it should not be demanded of the child attending school. He accuses American teachers with being too much inclined to be fashionable and with reprimanding them constantly while at play "because of their dirty hands, spots on their clothes and such things" which he maintains results in "natural, intense, wild play being gradually replaced by occupations of lesser value or by systematic games, like tennis, basket ball and baseball." He winds up with the declaration that "real boys and girls are rovers in the field and forests, in alleys and dangerous places."

Koch's observations of American school life are entirely at variance with those made by the British parliamentary educational commission which visited this country several years ago for the express purpose of studying the American system of education and its effects. That commission was composed of men who had made education a special study and had been for many years closely identified with it. They saw much in American schools and American methods of teaching which they declared in the most unequivocal terms ought to be emulated in the schools and educational system in Great Britain. They were specially impressed by the general appearance of American school children and commended in the strongest terms the pains taken to cultivate in them habits of cleanliness and tidiness. They had a higher respect than the Swiss professor for the Scriptural maxim that "cleanliness is next to godliness." Koch overlooks the fact that the habits drilled into the boy and the girl in school will be carried by them through life. He is also at fault in his criticism of the physical culture of American children. There is no country in which a vigorous physical development is more carefully cultivated by healthful indoor and outdoor exercise and sport than in the United States and its good results are being demonstrated in the high standard and virility of American manhood which it produces.

Mining developments in the Far North are taking on a new interest. In Nome it is reported that the third beach line or terrace, which is located on the tundra far back from the shore line and in which rich gold deposits were found early in the present year, is proving to be very extensive, and prospecting is in progress on what is supposed to be a fourth terrace of the same character still further inland. These reports indicate a new and prolonged life and a vastly increased output of gold to that mining district. The wealth of the Tanana district is increasing each successive year and the Klondike, in Yukon Territory, which is nearly entirely in the hands of Guggenheim and English syndicates possessing large capital and working costly hydraulic and dredging plants will, it is said, be turning out henceforth and for years unnumbered to come a larger amount of gold than it has ever done since the discovery of the precious metal deposits by Cormack on Bonanza creek. It is evident that the time is fast approaching when the Alaska and Yukon territories will be at the head of the list of gold producing sections on the North American continent.

The United States survey cutter Explorer, which is now in the bay, is to make a new survey of the San Francisco water front and of some parts of Suisun bay and to chart a bank reported near the Farallones. In all probability these hydrographic surveys will settle the moot question as to whether or not the earthquake of April 18, 1906, was due to displacement in the geological formation. If the land slipped, the survey will show what changes it produced along the western shore of the bay. If no changes save those caused by natural tilting are discovered the theory of displacement as the cause of the great earthquake will have to be abandoned.

New York in the Senate.

Speaking of the Senatorial succession in New York the World says:

"How many years is it since New York State has been represented in the Senate of the United States? Little States like Maine, Vermont and Rhode Island have had power and pre-eminence in the upper house of Congress through the ability and standing of the men whom they have sent.

"Three times New York elected Roscoe Conkling. Before him were William H. Seward, Hamilton Fish, Silas Wright for three terms, William L. Marcy, Martin Van Buren, De Witt Clinton and other men of whom any State could be proud.

"Today New York contains more men of ability than any other State in the Union, more men of experience in business affairs, of learning in the law, of public spirit. Will the next Legislature have patriotism enough to select one of these men instead of another petty boss or another political dickering or another little brother of the rich?"

New York possesses a galaxy of brilliant Republican statesmen any one of whom would reflect honor on the State and add dignity and intellectual strength to the Senate. Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Root, Joseph Choate and Whitelaw Reid are all available. Anyone of them would make a splendid Senator. Anyone of them would be as a diamond to a dunghill, to use the simile of blame applied to Conkling, compared to the senile Platt or that withered pantaloon Chauncey Depew. It is to be hoped that the imperial commonwealth of the Union will once more send a really great man to the Senate.

Opposition to Seawall Improvement.

Why the southern counties should have voted heavily against the proposed seawall improvement in San Francisco is a mystery which no fellow can find out, as Dundreary would say. It was an exhibition of sheer perversity, for we cannot bring ourselves to believe that a great body of voters in the extreme southern end of the State would deliberately vote to retard the commercial and maritime development of the port of San Francisco, since such development cannot in any way injuriously affect the growth and welfare of the trans-Pachepi region.

The proposed seawall improvement will not impose any tax burden on the State at large, will not affect taxation at all, and will tend to increase taxable values. The principal and interest of the bonds will be paid out exclusively of the harbor revenues. The need of the improvement is apparent and pressing. Nobody offered any argument against it indeed, there existed no reasonable ground for opposition. Yet thousands of citizens vetoed it at the polls for reasons which no one has undertaken to explain.

There was organized opposition to the India Basin proposition, and some plausibility in the arguments against it. But with the seawall improvement the case was entirely different. No private interest was adversely affected, and the public interest loudly called for it. Hence the motive that prompted the blind opposition is inexplicable.

The activity which is visible in the lumber yards and the steady stream of heavily loaded lumber wagons passing from them constitute indisputable proof of the continuous growth of Oakland.

COMEDIETTA HAS MANY AD MIRERS

Entertainment Given by Ladies' Improvement Club Raises Neat Sum.

HAYWARD, Nov. 11.—The entertainment given by the Ladies' Improvement Club at the opera house last night for the benefit of the plaza fund proved to be one of the events of the season. An excellent program was rendered and brought forth some heretofore unknown talent. The comedietta, "Second Thoughts," provoked much laughter, as the actors, under the able coaching of Miss Mary E. Bruce, did well with their humorous roles.

Had Anne, as the reckless loving lord, was clever in his interpretation of the part. Miss Marie Madison was equally good as the lion tamer, Elvira, who did not like the idea of Sir Herbert's marrying solely for money. The part of the rich widow, Mrs. MacShannon, was cleverly and skillfully rendered by Miss Bruce.

Others who took prominent parts on the program were Miss Dolly Nathan, Miss Adele Alexander, R. B. Thompson, Annie McGregor, Herbert Cooper, Gerald Hoyt.

DUBLIN, Nov. 11.—The council chamber of the Dublin city hall was gutted by fire today and the city hall itself had a narrow escape from destruction. While the Republicans will have a large working majority in both houses of the next Congress, the Democrats have increased their strength. They have gained fourteen Congressmen and two Senators, assuming that the Oregon Legislature will abide by the referendum vote which designated Governor Chamberlain as the popular choice for the Senate. Nevertheless the Democrats will be too weak to do anything more than make a show of opposition. In the House they have lost their ablest party leader by the elevation of John Sharp Williams to the Senate. Their representation from New York and New England is weaker in numbers than ever before and lower in the intellectual scale. Three from the Boston district is New England's total quota, while the Empire State contributes only eleven out of a delegation of thirty-seven. More and more is the party of Jefferson taking on the character of a sectional organization.

The voice of Congressman Hayes is still for war, from his sanctum in the San Jose Mercury office he continues to hurl defiance at Uncle Joe Cannon. Incidentally he proposes to strip Congressmen Dalzell, Payne and Twyman of their peacock feathers and relegate them to minor positions in the legislative caravan. But Uncle Joe has a sense with the Auburn haired statesman of the prairie belt. When the mahout of the elephant held a séance with his henchmen, Mr. Hayes will feel very much like a stewed prune. The talk of deposing Uncle Joe is mere moonshine. He is as good as re-elected Speaker at early.

How the German Kaiser must envy a ruler with real power, like the President of the United States. Then he could call Europe a liar without contradiction, let alone rebuke in parliament.

Home building, to accommodate the wants of an ever-increasing population, is taking a new hold in Oakland, and new houses of course of erection are conspicuous feature in every section of the city.

HEART-TRIBUNE'S PAGE FOR WOMEN-HOME

NEW YORK.—Lady Aukland, wife of the fifth Baron Aukland of England, is so convinced of the superiority of American technical schools that she has decided for her son, Frederick Morton Eden, shall enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology two years hence.

Until a few days ago Lady Aukland was in retreat in the convent of the Sacred Heart in Manhattanville. She is now staying at the St. Regis. "Concerning her son, she said:

"Frederick is a second son, and it will be necessary for him to earn a living. I am convinced that over here he would get the best possible educational equipment for that end.

"That doesn't mean by any means that I admire everything American. I like your women—they are deliciously charming—that is, those one meets socially. But I must say I do not like your shop assistants, the haughty young women who condescend to preside at the counters in the millinery shops, for instance. They are not polite, and I do not see how they retain their places."

Lady Aukland says that she is opposed to woman's suffrage. She does not know how long she will stay here, but soon intends to go South for a visit.

His Desperation Won Her Heart

ST. LOUIS.—Virgil Danforth's conventional wooing found the heart of Mrs. Rosa Linden, proprietor of an East St. Louis second-hand furniture store, as hard as adamant. But his triple effort to drown in death his grief over the wife's refusal to marry him softened her.

Three times in one day he sought to quench his life with carbolic acid. Twice—once with a well-directed blow with her fist, and once by wielding a broom handle—she kept him alive.

And the third time it was a detective sent at her request, who checked Virgil's gloomy purpose.

On the next day, when arraigned before Justice Collins, Danforth pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. It is reported that he was sentenced to a fine of $100 and $25.50 costs were assessed against Danforth.

Mrs. Linden, who had visited Danforth in his cell and taken him a tempting breakfast, paid the costs. The fine was remitted.

When Danforth and Mrs. Linden started away, he was given the personal effects taken from his pockets when he was locked up. A photograph of himself and Mrs. Linden was returned to him and, arm in arm, the happy couple left police headquarters.

His second-hand furniture store is at 127 North Third street. It was there that Danforth had tried to kill himself twice. The third effort, frustrated by a detective, was at his room, 29 North Third street. He had the photograph of himself and Mrs. Linden in one hand, and a bottle of acid in the other, when the detective rushed in.

Now, the police believe, Capid has triumphed and the wedding bells soon will announce that Mrs. Linden has become Mrs. Danforth.

BOY HUSBAND IN FOR IT

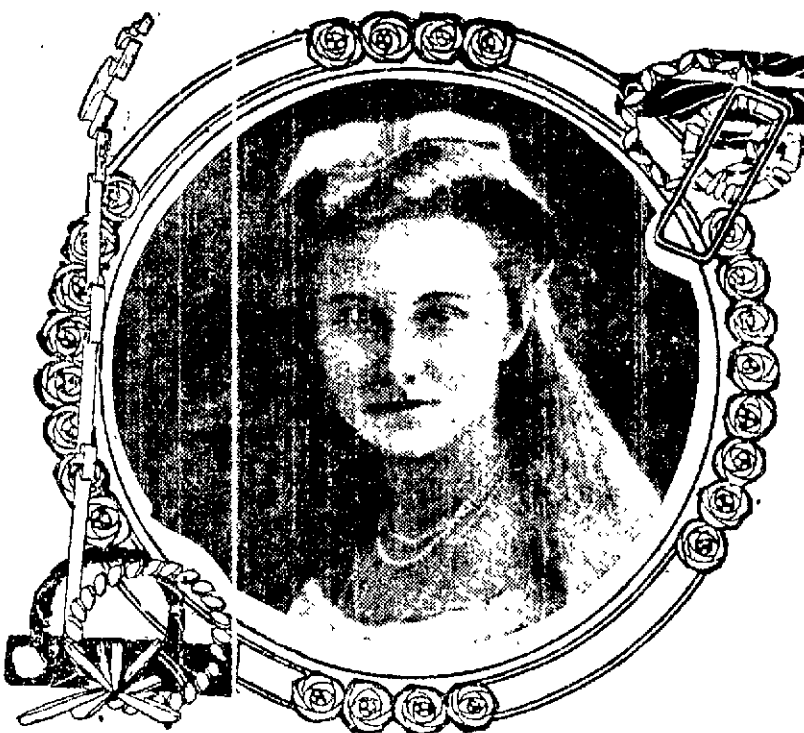

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 11.—"Where is the husband?" asked Judge Charles J. Hunt when the contempt charges against William Betz for non-payment of alimony were called. A slip of a lad stepped forward. The Judge asked, "How old are you?"

"Nineteen," said the boy.

"Where's your wife?" asked the Judge. The lad indicated a pretty girl in the rear part of the court room. She is quite as old as the bridegroom, and the Judge explained: "There ought to be some way of transferring cases to marriages like this to the juvenile court."

But as there wasn't the Judge wrestled with the problem in high tension as to what alimony a lad who earns $2 a week should pay to his wife who earns $4.50 a week or herself. He finally figured it out at $2 a week.

PRINCESS VICTORIA-LOUISE.

Few young ladies of 16 years of age, let alone royal ladies, have been photographed so seldom as Princess Victoria-Louise of Prussia, the Kaiser's only daughter and youngest child. The young princess had the above picture taken on September 13, her sixteenth birthday, as a "surprise" for her parents.

He Weds a Widow

DIXON, Nov. 11.—After having been out for six hours they say in the Dixon-Turner case, a young woman from Dixon, Ill., who had been married to a man who had died, was wedded to a young man from Dixon, Ill.

The next made an invasion into Dixon, where he won the heart of Miss Garing. In the meantime he made the acquaintance of a young widow of Dixon, who had been married to a man who had died. During all this time it is alleged that he had not broken any of his previous engagements.

16 LOVE LETTERS.

In the case just ended, 116 love letters, a diamond ring and numerous protestations figured extensively.

There were a few samples from the suitors that Russell sent to Miss Garing while, according to the charges, he kept up correspondence with other women.

I try to drive away all troublesome thoughts by thinking of you, my sweetheart, wife-to-be, and wishing I had been more sensible in the last four years and saved more money. You know it would have been much better for our future if I had saved my money and denied myself a few pleasures.

Another letter reads:

And so you would go home if I was to marry you? You were not untrue to me. You could not be, could you, sweetheart? I know what I would do if I was untrue to you, do you? But don't worry, you will be the first one to be untrue to me.

GETTING COLD FEET.

When his visits to Mrs. Garing became irregular he excused himself by stating that his health was failing. He wrote:

You must excuse my writing, as I feel shaky all over. I am getting poor and look thinner than I was a while ago. You are the only person I would take anything from, and dear wife, I have been hurt sometimes by the things you have said, although I know you are right. I think of you, tenderly, even though I don't often have a feeling that I love you strong and true.

Speaking of parting from Miss Garing, Russell said:

Early morning, dear, I was about all broken up and was afraid to talk because of the lump in my throat and the tears that I could not seem to keep back. I don't often have a feeling that I love you, but I never hated to part from you.

WATCROSS, Ga., Nov. 11.—After a battle, in which two men were killed, L. C. Edendell, a prominent young man, gained possession of Miss Effie Carter, the 15-year-old daughter of the wealthiest man in Coffee county, married with her to a justice of the peace and made her his wife.

Edendell and Miss Carter had been sweethearts for some months, but her parents objected to the marriage on account of her youth. To get Miss Carter away from Edendell and prevent an elopement she was sent by her parents to the home of her brother John W. Carter, at Millwood.

The girl notified Edendell of her whereabouts and expressed her willingness to elope if he would. Accompanied by D. A. Wilson, Edendell went to the home of the girl and tried to steal her. He was discovered and a battle occurred. Wilson was killed outright and A. J. Little, a friend of Carter, was shot that he soon died.

While the fight was going on Miss Carter rushed from her brother's home to her sweetheart. Edendell placed the girl in a carriage and hurried to the nearest magistrate and they were quickly married.

It is said that Wilson, who accompanied Edendell to aid in abducting Carter, was killed by her brother, that Little, who was aiding Edendell, was shot by Edendell.

The magistrate and his brother-in-law will be prosecuted for the deaths.

(From the N. Y. Evening Sun.)

To the Editor of the Evening Sun:—We have a stenographer in our office. Last year she looked like this:

Suffragettes Downcast? Well, Not a Little Bit!

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Undaunted by the feminine indifference to the ballot as displayed on election day when only eighteen hundred of Greater New York's millions of women accepted the invitation of the Progressive Women's Suffrage Association to come and cast a vote at the Percy Williams Theater, where balloting booths for women only were in operation all of yesterday, the suffragettes are jubilant over the result of the straw election, and proudly proclaim that the active interest of even so inactive a number shows the progress of their cause.

Miss Mary Coleman, the Suffragette lawyer, who has been working for the franchise for a long time, said: "The fact that so many women came to the polls, especially those who are usually so inactive, shows the progress of their cause. The fact that so many women came to the polls, especially those who are usually so inactive, shows the progress of their cause."

CALL IT A SUCCESS.

"Why, the affair was a splendid success," she said, "and many more women voted than we expected would. If the Suffragettes themselves had managed the affair we should have advertised to a greater extent and in that way would have prepared the women for the ballot. However, we thought that only two or three hundred would come to vote, and when we discovered that eighteen hundred in the five theaters wished to take part in the election we were greatly encouraged."

"All the women at the theaters were out for pleasure, and when a woman is having an amusing time she usually doesn't want to consider the serious side of life as voting of course. But the women yesterday just took to those votes like ducks to water, and they didn't need any urging to help 'their' part in the Presidential chair. Almost all the eleven hundred were for Puff and Tingles, as there were only six or six split tickets out of the whole number. If it hadn't been for the men there would have been a much larger vote."

THE 'MEANNESS' OF MEN.

"When I saw how some of these men acted I just came to the conclusion that the ordinary masculine being hasn't even common intelligence. What objection could anyone have to a woman casting only a straw ballot? But from the way half of the men acted you would have thought there were no sweethearts or wives to be considered by the mere pressure of the ballot box. They hurried their past, and when the women expressed a desire to try their hand at voting they were scoffed at and rebuked just like little children."

"I heard many a man say to the woman who was with him: 'What, you want to vote?' 'No, you don't!' 'Come along now! I won't allow it!' 'Women vote, I don't!' 'What do they know about politics?' And the poor thing was dragged away whether they would or no. But the election stirred up an immense amount of interest in equal rights among the women, for many lighted their intention of joining our association who never before had taken the trouble to inquire into our cause. We all consider it a howling success, and are greatly gratified that 1800 women in Greater New York have publicly declared themselves in favor of our cause."

Mrs. J. M. Barrie, wife of the author, is said to be one of the most expert motorists in Great Britain. She owns three cars, in which she takes long tours with her husband, but she always manages the car herself.

Mrs. Louise Waterman Carpenter of Brookline, Mass., has just passed her 100th birthday. She was born at Warwick, R. I., and is a direct descendant of Roger Williams. She is in good health and active enough to get about unassisted and within three years ago she felt no need for glasses.

Mrs. C. R. Miller, in a recent magazine article, says that the people of Hayti are of a jealous disposition and that the schools rule after the manner of a schoolboy bully. They do not like to see others of their own race successful, and the better part of citizens take no part in the government.

Nitocris was queen of Babylon, and after her death a rumor was current that a great deal of treasure had been buried with her. Herodotus relates that Cyrus caused her tomb to be opened, hoping to find untold wealth, his hopes were disappointed, for, except for the corpse the tomb was empty. A scroll, however, had been buried with the queen, and on it the soldiers of the tomb read these words: 'Hasten not time away here, for inevitable death would not have despoiled the monuments of the dead.'

WOMAN LAWYER PUNCHED A RUDE POLICEMAN HARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Frieda Thomas, a pretty young lawyer, and her equally charming sister, Ettie, nineteen years old, a school teacher, were arraigned in Myrtle avenue court, Brooklyn, to tell how they came to discolored, bruise and disfigure to features of Policeman Hayes of the Flushing Avenue station. The sisters were locked up for several hours on charges of a assault and disorderly conduct before being bailed out.

Neither of the Thomas girls makes any claim to succeeding the Pollen sisters, but those who saw Policeman Hayes

"Trimmed" over that the young lawyer and her school teacher sister displayed marked skill in statistics.

Just how the fracas started and ended is jumbled in the conflicting reports, but the girls claim that the policeman complained against the Thomas sisters.

FOUGHT FOR HER RIGHTS.

Frieda Thomas has a law office in Manhattan and lives at 118 Stanton street. She is twenty-one years old. Ettie Thomas is a teacher in public school at 118 Stanton street.

According to the legal member of the family, the girls were on their way home and stopped to see how Chanler was doing above the Bronx, as Miss Ettie was considerably interested in his campaign. Miss Frieda took more than passing interest in the success of several lawyer acquaintances on both tickets, and stood in front of a bulletin board at Broadway and Flushing avenue.

Here's where the stories of the policeman and the young woman differ. Miss Frieda says Hayes rudely drove her back from the street and roughly handled her sister. As a lawyer, she insisted that she had certain rights and asked the policeman for his shield number. She claims this irritated Hayes and he added some brutality to his rudeness.

The policeman's roughness brought forth a volley of neatly phrased facts, several of which landed plumb on eyes and nose, causing the policeman to stagger and retreat much to the amusement of a great crowd.

SAYS HE SAVED ONE.

She has had fifteen years' experience in the work of seamen and comes direct from the Sailors' Haven, Boston. She is known personally to sailors from every part of the world, who speak and look upon her as their friend. Her influence with men with whom she comes in contact is great.

WAS THE FIRST WOMAN MEDICAL COLLEGE GRADUATE

The William Smith College for Women in connection with Hobart College has just been formally opened. The funds for the new college were raised by William Smith of Geneva, N. Y. One of the speakers on the occasion of the opening said that if the new institution had been made co-educational he was sure there would have been much opposition to it, but as it was co-educational he had not heard a single word in objection. "There were several women among the speakers. One of the dormitories is named for Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman to graduate from a medical college in this country, an alumna of Hobart."

WEDDED FIFTY YEARS

MUST PAY $2 ALIMONY OUT OF HIS SALARY OF $6 A WEEK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Married fifty years, great grandparents and hale and hearty, the history in brief of Mrs. and Mr. Abram D. Warwick was celebrated their golden wedding October 21 at the Mortimer, 60 West Ninety-second street. They received their friends from 11 until 8 in the evening. Gifts and congratulatory messages were coming in all the time. With Mr. and Mrs. Warwick were their five children, eleven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. Warwick is a retired tobacco merchant and was born in Lynchburg, Va., in 1835. He served in the civil war as a member of the bodyguard of "Stonewall" Jackson, the famous Confederate general. His wife continued to feel as young and buoyant as they do now, there is no good reason why they should not live to celebrate their diamond wedding.

United States Senator John Daniel of Virginia is a nephew of the Warwicks. The ancestral home of the family is at Lynchburg, Va., and is still in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Warwick.

The chauffeur jumped on a ledge at the highway, and when Graham saw the chauffeur got in the automobile and gave chase.

THREW AWAY HAND BAG.

Having thrown away the hand bag, the chauffeur ran through Seventh street to Third avenue, where he was met by Policeman 11. The chauffeur and the policeman continued. By dodging about and turning corners, Graham kept ahead of the automobile.

At Seventy-seventh street, the chauffeur caught up with the policeman and the chauffeur ran up the steps with a crowd, and he pushed his way through the press of people, looking down at the policeman and the chauffeur.

Graham planted a blow at the chauffeur and the chauffeur ran up the steps with a crowd, and he pushed his way through the press of people, looking down at the policeman and the chauffeur.

Mrs. Lisauer and the young woman of the automobile both identified Graham, but for a time he stoutly maintained they were mistaken. Then he broke down and confessed the chauffeur. The woman who aided in the capture of Graham by the use of her automobile refused to give her name. She was warmly complimented by Captain Lantry.

"If it hadn't been for you," he said, "we wouldn't have got this fellow. We are much obliged, even if you did exceed the speed limit."

Mrs. Lisauer was so bruised and suffering from shock that she had to be attended by a physician.

"Sly Widow" Breaks Confidence and Steals Jewels

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—When James Moody and his wife, who live at 1111 W. 11th, left the city home a week ago for a short visit in Wilkesbarre they left perfectly safe in leaving their jewelry and other valuables behind them, for Mrs. Elizabeth Hall was going to stay in their house until their return.

In fact, they congratulated themselves on having so reliable and respectable a person in the house. They hadn't known Mrs. Hall long, but she came to spend a month in the country with them, and she had all kinds of excellent references. Besides, she was an attractive woman, a widow, perhaps 33 years old, and dressed in excellent taste and fashion.

But when the Moodys returned home they were surprised to find that Mrs. Hall had gone. The house was locked and everything seemed to be in good order, but all the city lodgers' belongings were gone. Then they made a further investigation and found that jewelry and other things they valued at $800 were gone also.

Then they went for the police.

These are the things they found missing: besides Mrs. Hall's gold watch and chain, value $150; diamond ring, value $80; bracelet, value $40; five other rings, value $15 to $25 each; emerald brooch, value $20; and other jewelry and other things valued at $200.

The police of this city are looking for Mrs. Hall.

JUDGE COOK TO ASK FOR A RECOUNT

Declares He Has Been Told Frauds Were Committed in Counting the Ballots.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Judge Carroll Cook will have a recount of the votes cast for candidates for the Superior bench.

"My friends have been at me to have a recount ever since the election," said Judge Cook. "I told them I had neither time nor inclination to undertake a task that would occupy probably two or three months and cost a great deal of money."

"Yesterday, however, Messrs. P. H. McCarthy and C. V. Twitmore of the campaign committee of the Union Labor party sent me and proposed a recount. They went so far as to insist upon it. They said they had received positive information of frauds committed in counting the votes."

GUMSHOE MEN IN CHARGE

"What they told me corroborates what I have heard from other sources. There were no organization watchers in the booths during the count, the booths being in the possession of Rudolph Sprackels' gumshoe men. There is reason to believe that the election clerks read off the ballots as they liked, the one effort being to count in Judge Dunne's favor."

"We are told, for instance, that where Dunne's name will appear in the Democratic and Good Government League columns, two votes for Dunne were counted. In other precincts, where a voter made a cross at the top of a column, indicating his desire to vote a straight ticket and then voted for Dunne in another column, instead of throwing out the ballot they would count Dunne's vote and not mine."

POLL'D 28,000 VOTES.

"Now, I'm no sorehead. If the vote was all right I am satisfied with it. I received indication enough at the polls, even if I was defeated, for I polled approximately 23,000 votes, 12,000 more than I received in this city two years ago when I ran for the Appellate bench."

Judge Cook was told that rumors were afloat that he contemplated resigning before the end of his term so as to at once appear in some important criminal case. He shot his head.

"I'll serve my term out, in any case," he said.

BANK LAW TO FORBID LOANS TO DIRECTORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Governor James N. Gillett attended the meeting of the legislative committee on banking laws yesterday afternoon and participated in its deliberations. The morning session was taken up mainly by discussions of the clauses relating to the lending of money to officers and directors of banks. The State's draft, as well as that of the California Bankers' Association, contains severe penalties for violations. It is proposed that any director who votes to lend money to a brother director shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and punished accordingly.

Each section of the State's draft and of the bankers' association draft is being taken up by the joint committee singly. Portions of sections of each draft are being put together and made into one, and some entire sections are being cast out altogether. One of the most important sections already agreed to by the joint committee is that which prohibits banks from allowing overdrafts.

RAILWAY FOUND GUILTY.

FRESNO, Nov. 11.—At yesterday's session of the Federal Court Judge Wellborn instructed a jury to find the Southern Pacific Railroad guilty of violating the safety appliance law. Six counts were included in the charge, four charging that broken couplings had been found on freight cars in this city and Bakersfield, and another that a switch engine coupling was lacking at Mojave.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—With a skyrocket career and an apparently endless chain of small fictitious checks behind him, C. E. Young, former secretary to United States Senator Daniel C. Williams, is in the city jail awaiting trial for his manipulation of worthless bank paper. His downfall is attributed by acquaintances to liquor.

ANOTHER WOMAN IN THE PHIPPS CASE

Divorced Husband of Victim of Attempted Blackmail to
tion.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 11.—That Mrs. Allen P. Read, the Denver woman who on Monday last attempted to extort $20,000 from Mrs. Genevieve Phipps, the wealthy society leader, threatening destruction by dynamite to her and her child, Helen, unless she complied with the demands, will have the support of her husband and friends in this city should it become necessary to defend her act in the criminal courts, is evident from the arrangements already under way to trace, through detective agencies, her wanderings since leaving Buffalo Park, Colo., three weeks ago to attend the funeral of her father at Pittsfield, Mass.

TO PROSECUTE WOMAN.

That she will not be allowed to go free without it being proved that she acted from an insane impulse at the time is just as evident from steps taken by Mrs. Phipps' divorced husband, Lawrence C. Phipps, the Pittsburg millionaire, who late last night had his attorney, Gerald Hughes, request the police authorities to re-arrest Mrs. Read and hold her pending further investigation of the attempt at blackmail. In an interview published this morning, Mrs. Phipps is credited with saying that she will prosecute Mrs. Read and that she has already formed proceedings had already been begun.

When Chief of Police Armstrong questioned Mrs. Read after her arrest Monday she referred several times to a woman she called "Madame Grey." The fact that so much of Mrs. Read's story has been found to be true has convinced the police that there must have been another woman in the affair.

ANOTHER IN PLOT.

It is believed by Mrs. Read's friends, and the police do not deny it as a possibility, that Mrs. Read met some woman while returning west, perhaps a professional blackmailer, who took advantage of her weakened condition, aggravated by the use of drugs to allay her bodily pain, and prevailed upon her to enter into a plot to blackmail Mrs. Phipps. As evidence that Mrs. Read had become the tool of someone, it is stated that diamonds and rubies valued at $2500 and bank notes to the amount of $300 that she is said to have had when she left Pittsfield are missing.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 11.—It developed today that Mrs. Allen P. Read, who is under arrest in Denver for attempting to extort money from Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps, is the daughter of the late George Campbell of this city. Up to about four years ago, when she and Allen P. Read were married she was a nurse in this city. Mrs. Read came here about the middle of last October to attend the funeral of her father.

ROOSEVELT'S SNUB TO BE RESENTED

Three Members of the Federation of Labor to Refuse President's Invitation.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 11.—The News today says: President Roosevelt's snub to Gompers will be resented by John Mitchell, Daniel J. Keefe and James Duncan as soon as they receive the President's invitations to attend his executive dinner at the White House next Tuesday.

These three members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor yesterday decided that they would refuse the invitations. The action was taken after the slight put upon President Gompers and other officials of the Federation had been generally discussed by the delegates to the convention.

The invited officials decided that if President Roosevelt wanted to do anything in the interest of labor it must be done through the organization (the American Federation of Labor) recognized as the parent body of all unions in the country.

MINISTERS PREACH IN CATTLE KILLING PENS

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Preaching and cattle slaughtering in the stock yards were transformed into pulpits yesterday by a force of thirty ministers of religion. Sermons were delivered to the killing gangs and a cornucopia of religious music.

In most of the killing pens the sermons were preached during the lunch time recess.

In one hog house the sermon was delivered to the killers while in the act of doing the killing. Long knives, from which blood was dripping, were in the hands of the workers at the very moment the message of the gospel was intoned with, and slightly interrupted by the squeals of the dying pigs.

The "Packington" "squad" of revivalists is composed of local preachers from the principal Protestant denominations. They are under the direction of the Rev. Charles Stegle and the Rev. Warren H. TWENTY-FOUR HOUR RACE A POSSIBILITY

FRANK O. RENSTROM WITH A PARTY OF FRIENDS IN PULLMAN AUTOMOBILES.

Promoter of Los Angeles Event Comes to San Francisco.

By ELIZABETH GREGG

The Schlink, the promoter of the recent twenty-four hour race in Los Angeles, arrived in San Francisco yesterday with the intention of getting up a similar event in that place.

With Max Rosenfeld, president of the Automobile Dealers' Association, he interviewed a number of the dealers yesterday for the purpose of ascertaining what entries were probable.

The assurance Mr. Schlink received from the dealers was encouraging for, in most instances, he was told that if the track was in good condition an entry would be made.

As yet Mr. Schlink's plans are not definite, but he hopes to get the automobile club of the association to give the race under its auspices, and that arranged he will investigate tracks. Inglewood or Torrance are the only available places, and on each track considerable work would be necessary, but after much experience of this sort Mr. Schlink is confident that he could put the track in condition to satisfy the most particular.

In the twenty-four hour race is given in San Francisco the automobile, which won the Los Angeles race, will be entered, and this will add great interest to the contest.

The prizes to be offered are diamond medals valued at $1000, $400 and $100, and these medals may be exchanged for cash by the winner.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

News has been received that Lane steamer agency in this city that the Lane demonstrator is on its way from New York and may be expected here within two weeks.

Charles Howard of the Howard Automobile Company has returned from his Southern California trip, and is now in San Francisco waiting for the arrival of 1909 Buicks and a busy season.

Harvey Saller of Old Divisions, a mining town in northern California, drove the 1908 Buick to San Francisco for a week in his 1908 Franklin touring car.

The car was purchased by Mr. Saller last month, and when he got into the car he found the roads were so bad from Redding to Old Divisions that it was necessary to build a new road before the car could better road to Redding. Mr. Saller does considerable touring through the northern part of the State, and he has found the Franklin excellent for the rough country roads.

Some facts regarding the economy of a Pullman automobile are given out by Pullman company. If M. Owens recently ran his car 101 miles on three gallons of gasoline, H. W. Moles also ran a four cylinder Pullman touring car over 800 miles on one set of tires without even a puncture.

These facts are largely attributed to the lightness and perfect construction of the car. It is experiences of this kind which have made the Pullman so popular.

General better feeling in the market for automobiles was reported from all quarters following the election returns. Almost unanimously in the trade it is the opinion that confidence on the part of the buying public will be restored and that sales at retail will show a large increase during the coming season.

Announcement of new model continues and demonstrations of 1909 cars are being made quite freely about the city.

The demand for space at the shows, both national and local, is markedly apparent. There being little space available at any of the national exhibitions.

Racing interest concentrates on the Savannah grand prize and light car races. It appears that the attendance of automobile enthusiasts from all parts of the country at Savannah on Thanksgiving Day will be exceedingly heavy.

In spite of changes in the entry list the fields in each event are heavy enough to warrant good races. A winter event on the motor parkway is also announced for early in December. Otherwise practically all racing is at an end for 1908. There are again rumors of another meet at Ormond Beach in the spring, but these are not officially confirmed yet.

Martland, Pearl & Eklund, 1561 Broadway, and 112 Telegraph avenue, the agents for Diamond Tires, have converted the Broadway side of their store into a large and commodious room, where automobiles can drive in and get their tires inflated without getting out of the car. Think of the convenience on a wet day and it costs you nothing.

TEVIS TO BUILD BIG POWER PLANT

Indication That Harriman Interests Are Corraling the Water Power of State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Coming after the announcement made in yesterday's Chronicle of Harriman's activity in the attempt to secure control of the electric power situation in the State, it has been learned that the properties on the American and Cosumnes rivers owned by W. H. Tevis and recently offered to the city for a municipal water supply are also being developed for the production of electric power.

"Our engineers are still at work on the matter," C. N. Beal, who is associated with Tevis, said yesterday, "and at the present time I am not in a position to discuss our plans, further than to say that we are out of the water business. The properties have been released from the contract with the City of San Francisco, and they will be developed for power."

"This announcement comes as another indication of the remarkable activity in electric power propositions at the present time, and is also in a way a confirmation of the general conviction that the Harriman interests are busily at work corraling the water power of the State for their own purposes."

Other signs of activity and the working of the big interests are not wanting. A New York syndicate is developing the Bown properties on the Yuba river and has gained control of other locations. The recent purchase of the Truckee River Electric Company by W. H. Harriman is another indication of the same general condition, as is the incorporation of the Mohave Water and Power Company, which is also attributed to Harriman.

But he was a fighter to be able to win four pounds in his training for a contest and a very small one.

The training stunts will be indulged in every day from now until the fight with the exceptions of Sundays.

Any other day the training camp is open to the public and we invite the public to inspect. I have been asked several times, as a matter of fact, what day will be the day for ladies and gentlemen to come in and what day that every day I had a day about this camp for we try to keep things light and easy to see. I am referring to the fact that it is in my bones. I believe myself of this kind of speech in his very best man and a man of the kind that he has lived.

Today and all day to please it would be in that he was telling the truth.

YESTERDAY'S WORK

The work of yesterday was simply a lot of preliminary gallop or lousening motion for he will not settle down to the real work of the training until the first of next week. The work consisted of five to a minutes with the pulley weights, about four rounds with the punching bag, three rounds of boxing with Otis Corbett and about ten minute of shadow boxing.

Of course the boxing was the feature of the day's work but even this was of the very lightest character and more of an exercise stunt than a boxing bout.

Papke and Jones have a training style that they call their own and one that has been successful in bringing home the money every time out with the exception of one and they will tick to this style in their preparation for the third meeting with Ketchel.

With rumors leaking out from California field that the practice last night was far from satisfactory to Coach Taylor, the staff met to discuss the situation. To this morning, and if some teasing news does not soon come from the blue and gold camp, it is probable that the school would be to one when the team comes together, although but little money is changing hands except on the competitive basis.

Every man on the Berkeley team was in good shape last night when he reported for practice, no lameness or injury was noted, and the team was in good secret, but a bout one half hour was spent in passing the ball. Referee Jenkins from Vancouver was on the grounds and saw the boys in action. The boys were different was. The Canadian official is a clever player, and gave many good passes to the players, but the boys' suggestion steadily, but unconvincingly, that there are some to be the user on the whole play. The fumbling last night was corrected, and the players were in the team. After running up and down the field several times with the players and showing them new plays." Before Jenkins expressed surprise at the show, he said that he had been told that Jenkins was a "good" player. Jenkins said that he had been told that Jenkins was a "good" player. Jenkins said that he had been told that Jenkins was a "good" player.

CHICAGO Nov. 11.—To punish ball players for defying the rules of agreement with the National Baseball Association and to place on the ineligible list more than fifty baseball players were placed on the ineligible list by the national board of directors today. The sweeping decision will affect more than fifty players, including the members of the Minneapolis and Milwaukee clubs, who are playing in the Three I, Southern and Pacific Coast leagues. No specific amount is named in the fine, but before a contract is signed, the players will have to agree that the club they play for will pay the amount to Secretary Farrell. The players will have to agree that they will not to this. It is thought that if the disposition of the reasonable in the national board of directors.

In this action the national board supports the national commission in its action of placing the members of the Minneapolis and Milwaukee clubs on the ineligible list for playing with the Logan Square team.

First Baseman Danzig of the Portland team was bought by the Boston Nationals, and the Boston Americans reached the playoffs. The Nationals had famous players were involved in the various trades.

One of the important actions was the placement of Wally Brown in the Boston Red Sox club in the Northwest League for making charges against Empire State.

An important decision was made by the commission regarding Player Ford who had been signed by the Philadelphia Athletics. The player was found to be unqualified for life and the Braves (Marion) club fined $200 for playing him.

Two important amendments were proposed which will cause great excitement among the players. The first amendment moved that the Western and Southern leagues be reduced from class A to class B. Also to have the board of arbitration composed of three members from each of the A leagues. The present board has

The brunt of the fighting between the Blue and Gold team and the rival Cardinals, in the annual game Saturday will revolve about this player, who has taken the enormous responsibility in directing his team in the game. Of the fifteen men he most fully approaches a full captain, and only fighting courage make him one of the most formidable men of the season upon the Rugby field.

After a long talk with Frank Chance last night, Joe Corbett formerly with Brooklyn and St. Louis announced that he might join the Hampton Cubs next year if his arm slow up strong next spring. Corbett was invited to join the team on the training trip next spring and Chance offered him a substantial salary if he came to talk it Chance is familiar with the playing of the eleven twelve and thirteens and he has but few surprises on the diamond. He, however, is inclined to believe that over the salary end the labor union will leave him would only to join the club. But a staff salary increase in eleven mentioned with the provision that he think good if he is he does not want a cent.

Squire put up a magnificent game of three cushions last night and landed himself a victory against Buchanan. He accidentally broke the average record tonight and Buchanan narrowly tied the high run set by Malone. It was a top sided score but an exciting and pretty game. Squire won 35 to 10 with an average of 35-61, well over one-half. He got two in each of eight innings and three in two

'BIG JIM' GALLAGHER TELLS OF HIS TALKS WITH RUEF

Judge Lawlor Rules Against Defense on Question of Latitude of Prosecution in Examining Witnesses.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11. — Although Abraham Ruef is being tried on the charge of bribing ex-Supervisor John J. Furey in the matter of the overhead trolley franchise, passed by the board, nevertheless Francis J. Heney, the special prosecutor, is to be allowed to go into the bribery in the Parkside, fight trust, telephone and various other deals for which the former boss has been indicted on separate counts.

After a discussion lasting all yesterday afternoon Judge Lawlor this morning overruled the objection of the defense to the introduction of this testimony at the present time, and an exception was taken by the defense.

GALLAGHER ON STAND.
Former Supervisor James Gallagher was then called to the stand and asked regarding the fight trust deals. He stated that Ruef had told him that there was $500 in it for each of the board of supervisors, and asked him to see whether it would be all right as far as the members were concerned.

"Did you have any other conversations with Ruef about this matter?" questioned Heney.

"Yes," was the response, "I had another conversation. It took place at Mr. Ruef's office at California and Kearny streets.

"When was that?"
"About the end of January, 1908."

"State what was said in that conversation."

"I reported to him that I had spoken to several members of the board and that the matter would be all right. Mr. Ruef told me to endeavor to get as many of the members as I could, and all of them if possible."

TALKED WITH OTHERS.
"Had you talked with any of the members of the board before this second conversation?"

"Yes, I had. I spoke to Mr. Wilson, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Harrigan, Mr. Bixton and Mr. Coleman. I spoke to other members also, but I cannot now recall just which ones."

"When and where did the conversation take place with Wilson?"

"My best remembrance of it is—
"I object to his best remembrance, your honor," put in Attorney Ach, "the other knows or he doesn't."

"Objection overruled," said the court. "I am not positive," continued Gallagher, "as to the place, but my best remembrance is that it was at the meeting room of the board. I am not positive about it."

"I move to strike out that statement," fired Attorney Ach, "as it is apparent that the witness doesn't know where he had the conversation. He gives only a remembrance."

This objection was also overruled, and Gallagher stated that he had told Wilson that there would be $500 in it for him, and that he had replied "all right."

NEW HOURS FOR COURT.
Judge Lawlor announced this morning that he would hold court tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m., giving the jury the afternoon to themselves to enable them to vote. The session this morning was held at Carpenter's Hall on Fulton street, near Van Ness avenue, and the quarters were so cold that there was positive suffering on the part of the court attaché, Attorney Ach and Henry kept on their overcoats, and at one time the former stopped in the middle of the proceedings and complained to Judge Lawlor that the cold was blowing down on the top of his head.

HIS Christmas Present---

—Remember last year what a time you had finding something good enough for His Majesty?

—And have you tried to make his masculine requirements meet your feminine purse?

—And have waited in hope until the last minute and then found everything mailed over?

—Don't go through the same performance this year.

—It makes wrinkles.

—For instance, tonight, we have some of the prettiest appliqued leather dress pants, pillow tops, duff and smoking room table covers you ever saw.

—Such novelties never last until Xmas, for the early shoppers snap them up.

—And if you don't get them now you'll be disappointed later.

—It always happens that way.

—Particularly with the men's gifts.

—Of course we've wall-to-wall papers, and pens and stationery, and books galore. But you must choose early to get the cleverest novelties.

—It's easier to pick out presents for all the girls. I know that to get one for a man," said one of our customers recently.

—And she is about right.

—But it isn't half so hard if you indicate the money early warn.

I REPRESENT a lot of private lenders here, and several outside banks, and am prepared to make quick on real estate security in Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Fruitvale, in any sum you want, large or small, and at very moderate cost.

I can often give you the cash in hand within 24 hours after I get your application, and quick results are what count.

I handle the search, insurance and all of the papers, and all the borrower has to do is to call once, sign the mortgage and get his money.

If you can't call at the office, telephone me and I will examine your property AT ONCE.

If you have some money yourself, that you want to lend, I am equally interested in your case, and can show you where to place it to the best advantage.
